

About Me

Allie Rae is a young artist who has been climbing her way to make her name known. She has ambitious at 13 years old, who knows what she wants and likes. She is from small town Santa Fe Texas where her community support is what keeps her going. A big soulful voice that comes out of a 5'0" 85lb young female. This big strong voice will catch you in disbelief, you have to hear for yourself!

Story

In second grade, Allie Rae discovered her love for singing by performing an emotional tribute to the military, dressed in uniform and honoring soldiers. This marked the beginning of her musical journey, supported by the School of Rock. From karaoke to playing in a house band, her talent grew, leading to performances at benefits, local Oprys, and events like the BuckShot Jamboree, where she honored WWII veterans. Allie Rae frequently donates her time, such as performing at Texas Roadhouse's Veterans Day events. Beyond country music, she excels in blues, representing the Houston Blues Society twice at the International Blues Challenge in Memphis. Her passion for storytelling and honoring veterans continues to inspire audiences.

Allie Rae was the Junior Division winner of the 2023 Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo Rockstar Competition, opening doors to many performances. She has played at iconic venues like Buck Owens Crystal Palace in Bakersfield, Beale Street in Memphis (including the Hard Rock Café and BB King's), and Houston spots like The Continental Club and Rockefeller's. Allie Rae has shared stages with talents like Steve Krase, Shamika Coupland, Trey from American Idol, and Jake Bush. In 2023, she released her debut cover album, On Her Way, followed by her first single, "Cinderella for a Night," in 2024. She continues to write music, play guitar, and plans to release new singles soon. Check her out on social media!
